Your site's size, speed, redirects, and error pages among other things included in this section, contribute to your visitors' experience. If these elements aren't optimized, not only will they leave your page, but your position in search engines can be affected.

What do you need to look at?

Fix duplicate webpage titles on your website

A webpage title is the text that you assign to the `<title>` tag, that appears on top of the document. Search engines pay a lot of attention to them and it is very important that your title is unique and descriptive.

✗ Include the robots.txt file in your website

The robots.txt file does not impact directly on your traffic or your search rankings. However, it is useful in a healthy SEO strategy and important to understand how it instructs search engine robots in how to crawl the pages on your website.

✗ Make sure all the pages in your site are linked to the home page

All of the pages on your website should link back to your home page, the most credible page of your website.

✗ Avoid duplicate content

When you have the same content appearing in more than one place on your website, it negatively affects your ranking. Not only pages with duplicate content compete against each other in terms of keywords, but it also makes it difficult for search engines to decide which version of the content is the 'valid' one. Look at our suggestions below:

These pages have duplicate content

- /enkelhemsida.php

✗ Include a sitemap in XML format

A sitemap is an XML file that lists the URLs of your website along with additional metadata about each one (when it was last updated, how often it usually changes and how important it is compared to other URLs in the site) so that search engines can crawl the site more intelligently.

What have you done well?

- ✓ Fix broken or dead links (Also known as 404 errors)
- ✓ Make your website load faster
- ✓ Start using SSL/HTTPS
- ✓ Create a mobile enabled website
- ✓ Make sure that your mobile website loads quickly
- ✓ Fix programming related errors
- ✓ Try to balance the use of 'noindex' tags on your web pages
- ✓ Make sure you're keeping your content fresh

On-page Optimization

This is one of the most critical aspects of your site's optimisation. The items in this section are helpful in sending traffic to your website because they act as summaries of your site content, helping your potential visitors to identify what it's about. Search engines focus a lot on a website's user experience on your site, and whether it seems built for people and not search engines.
